Hong Kong Dance Company x Yat Po Singers

Voices and Dances of the Distant Land

A Folkish Crossover:
Folk Songs and Dances, with A Cappella Singing

Dance to the romance of folklore

Sing along to jazzy makeovers of ethnic songs

Ever wonder what a modern makeover of Chinese traditional folk art would be like? In Voices and Dances of the Distant Land, Hong Kong Dance Company collaborates with Yat Po Singers, a local a cappella group well-loved by the young audience for their witty, theatrical performances, in a creative remaking of the most vibrant, ecstatic Chinese folk songs and dances. Through their exuberant performance, Yat Po Singers will interpret a collection of widely loved folk songs as choral music, expressing their melodic beauty and idyllic spirit through the magic of voice. And woven into their performance you will hear rich nuances of latter-day music genres like pop, rock and jazz. Join us on a magical journey: let our voices and our dance lead you into the realms of romance, folklore and joie de vivre, and take you to an idyllic distant land.

A cappella – group or solo singing of rhythm and melody or vocal percussion without instrumental accompaniment – has become a popular style in Hong Kong in recent years. This programme ingeniously brings together this European form with traditional Chinese folk songs, and takes you away from the hustle and bustle of the city to the earthly paradise we seek.

For this folklore crossover programme, the Hong Kong Dance Company has invited Mr Patrick Chiu to act as Music Director. The Company has also invited Guest Musician Master of Chinese Lute Sanxian, Mr Zhao Taisheng, to perform on the sanxian, the Chinese ocarina and vocals, and Guest Musician Ms Huang Xiyin for vocals.
